Checking in with other people

To add other peoples' vaccination status to your Check In app, follow the steps above, but have your guest log in to their MyGov account instead. If your child is younger than 14, follow the same steps but choose your dependent once logged in to MyGov.

If you have the medicare Express Plus App

Make sure your Check In Qld App is up to date first.

Medical Exemptions

If you can't get any of the approved COVID-19 vaccines for medical reasons, this will be recorded by your doctor on the Australian Immunisation Register. Once recorded, your exemption will appear on your COVID-19 Digital Certificate, which you can then add to your Check In App. Your exemption will also appear on your AIR Immunisation History Statement. If you prefer, both of these documents can be printed and used as proof of exemption status.

Updating/Removing your COVID Certificate

If your vaccination details change, you need to share an updated digital certificate with your state or territory check in app.

If you are updating your certificate, follow the steps for adding your certificate again.

After a booster shot

If you've had a booster or third dose, only your last two COVID-19 vaccinations will show on your certificate. Your first dose will no longer appear on your certificate, but you'll still be considered fully vaccinated.

The 'valid from' date on your certificate will change to the date that you received your last dose. If you want your latest vaccination dates on your certificate, follow the steps above to update your certificate in your Check In Qld app.

Other ways to provide proof of vaccination

Show a printed copy of your:

- Immunisation History Statement
 - ➔ from the Australian Immunisation Register, or
 - ➔ from your doctor (must be signed & stamped)
- COVID-19 Digital Certificate

If you are a DVA Gold Card holder and don't have a Medicare number, you'll need to access your My Health Record and link it to your MyGov account. To do this, call the My Health Record enquiries line (1800 723 471). They'll verify your identity and give you an access code, also called an Identity Verification Code, to link your accounts.
